Planning for Social Justice Conference

Kick-off meeting

This event is the Kick-off Meeting of the Planning for Social Justice Conference that will take place in July 2021. It has been conceived in synergy with the DASTU Territorial Fragilities Project and is part of the communication & dissemination activities of the ongoing research project MEtropolitan Governance and planning processes dealing with social jUstice and the TerritoriAL Cohesion Policy. MEGUAL's main objective is to suggest anti-fragile planning strategies at regional/metropolitan scale, working on the production of 'unjust geographies' (Soja 2010) between Italy and Brazil. Today's speeches will offer the Brazilian perspective on metropolitan planning and its relationship with the concept of Social Justice as a first result of the research.

The meeting is also the occasion for the launch of the Young Investigator Training Program (YITP) funded by the Foundations of banking origin (ACRI). The program will offer to young researchers who are working abroad up to seven scholarships for a short-lasting research period to spend in seven Italian Universities (Sapienza Università di Roma, Università IUAV di Venezia, Università degli Studi di Napoli Federico II, Politecnico di Milano, Università degli Studi di Firenze, Università degli Studi di Palermo, Politecnico di Torino).
